Actor John Abraham recently lost his cool with a media person at the trailer launch of his upcoming action film. During the press conference, a reporter noted that Abraham was known for only doing action films and asked him to do "kuch naya," to which an offended Abraham replied: "Aapne film dekhi hai? Can I call out bad questions and idiots?" The actor went on to add, "Main toh apko sirf directly kelna chahta hoon ki yeh film aag hai. Meri hisaab se toh it is a very intense performance. Of course, aapne film dekhi nahin hai." Abraham then asked people not to judge the film based solely on the trailer. "Film dekhiye ap, uske baad I'm all yours, whatever you say. But if you are wrong, I'm going to turn around and tear you apart," he said. HT

Devoleena Bhattacharjee recently took to Instagram to express her support for actor Dalljiet Kaur after the latter's estranged husband, Kenya-based businessman Nikhil Patel was photographed with his girlfriend at the Mumbai airport on Thursday evening. Following the spitting, Kaur shared screenshots of the report as well as a post by her manager, who slammed Patel for marrying the actor for her fame. Bhattacharjee also shared an Insta Story, writing, "The person is already married and hasn't even gotten a divorce yet... Who gives these people the right to ruin someone else's life?" Addressing Patel's claims that the two were not legally wed, she added, "For people like him, making a mockery of every relationship, is so easy. People with limited understanding should realise that we are talking about a third person here, about Dalljiet and her son... CHEATING IS DEFINITELY A CHOICE NIK. (sic)" The estranged couple tied the knot in March 2023, following which Kaur moved to Kenya. Earlier this year, she returned to India with her son Jaydon and accused Patel of having an extramarital affair. Soon after, the businessman released a statement confirming the separation. HT
